#WiNRespMed

WELCOME MESSAGE

Dear Colleagues,

Following the successful last year's congress in Ioannina I would like to invite you to "What is New in Respiratory Medicine 2023". This year's face-to-face (F2F) edition will take place on September 28 - October 1, in the beautiful island of Corfu.

With a scientific program guided by the Respiratory Medicine Department of the University of Ioannina and with the joint effort of the Association of Internal Medicine of Northwestern Greece, #WiNRespMed2023 features all the latest developments of modern respiratory medicine, in a multidisciplinary program designed to promote high-level continuing and up-to-date education, aiming to inspire new ideas and collaborations, and to celebrate the sharing of expertise.

With the participation of many leading international and Greek experts already confirmed, the #WiNRespMed2023 scientific program will offer an overview of the latest clinically relevant research in the field, including state-of-the-art Plenary Sessions, outstanding Keynote Lectures, interactive Patient Cases, our Journal Club and focused Workshops. You should also be prepared for interactive contests that will stimulate learning through fun and engagement.

Join us in the #WiNRespMed2023 experience in Corfu on September 28 - October 1. Building on the legacy of previous #WiNRespMed meetings, we invite you to get updated on science evolution, embrace new ideas, meet old and new friends F2F, and return inspired to your daily practice!
